Build your life and business on systems, not people! If your business cannot run when you are away, it is broken and vulnerable.

Build your life and business on solid Intentional principles and be more confident and peaceful about any outcome.

Build your life and business as a “coordination of knowledge and effort, in a spirit of harmony, for the attainment of a definite purpose”.

Grow Your Business

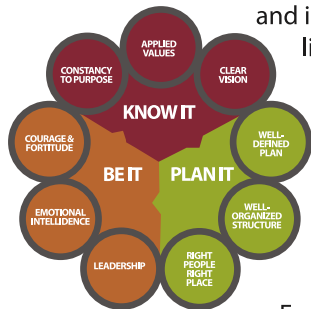

Intentional Mastermind and Coaching (MAC) Forums are very different from any other mastermind or training you may have experienced.

Instead of just discussing your problems, you will learn, develop and be coached on “systems of Intentional thinking and actions.” You’ll come away with a method of ‘Intentional thinking and doing’ to address your problems or situations with positive predictable results.

When you share this method with your staff, everyone will know how to intentionally address your business situations. Your business will no longer be solely dependent on you.

Grow Yourself

Intentional MAC Forums are based on and utilize The Intentional Success System™. It’s a system of nine (9) interrelated, inter-connected, interacting, and interdependent universal life-principles. Applying this system helps individuals increase self-esteem, identify purpose and values, and learn coping skills and tools to deal with everyday challenges.

Examples might include maintaining healthy relationships, setting and achieving personal goals, improve communications skills, enhancing personal time management and more.

Each session will be divided into 3 sections.

Philosophy

The introduction and discussion of a foundational principle from The Intentional Leader™.

Strategy

Masterminding of how you Accept, Adopt and Adapt the principle into your business and life.

Community

Commitment to and accountability by the group to ensure intentional, habitual, sustainable and measurable implementation and success.

Each MAC Forum lasts 6-12 months and consists of weekly 2-1/2 hour sessions.

MAC FORUMS are very different from other formats you may have experienced.

Typical mastermind groups offer a combination of brainstorming, peer accountability and support in a group setting. While positive and helpful, they do not train you to develop or hone a predictable set of leadership and business skills which would better guarantee your success. In MAC Forums you will also learn proven, practical leadership and business principles, and develop that knowledge into usable skills to help you address your problems or situations with positive predictable results.

Intentional MAC Forums provide a unique experience of robust synergy with like minded professionals. To ensure compatibility of participants, these forums are by application and acceptance.
